

Guidance for Colleges and Training Organisations: Learning and Funding Information Letter

June 2020

Background

Before applying for an Advanced Learner Loan, learners must speak to you, as a college or training organisation in receipt of a loans facility from the Education and Skills Funding Agency (ESFA), to establish the availability of a place on an appropriate course.

The learning and funding information letter is an essential stage in the prospective learner's journey. The learner will use it as they consider investing in further education at levels 3 to 6 with a loan. You must issue the letter as part of your discussion with learners when they are considering their education and training and funding options. You must also make learners aware of the loans information available on the www.nationalcareers.service.gov.uk website and on www.gov.uk/advanced-learner-loan

Supporting the learner

You must make all learners, including those learners who are considering funding their course through a loan, aware of your policy on fees and charging. You must do this before they decide on their payment method.

You must either attach a copy of your fee policy to the learning and funding information or include a link to your fee policy on your website within the letter.

The availability of loans for learners aged 19 to 23 at Level 3 does not replace the legal entitlement to full funding for a first full Level 3 for learners aged 19 to 23. You should check a learner's entitlement before you provide information on Advanced Learner Loans.

The learning and funding information letter gives learners the information necessary to help them consider their options for financing their course. It is important that learners are fully informed and do not feel pressured to apply for a loan.

It also gives the essential information they need to complete an application, should they decide to apply for a loan. It will help to produce accurate applications, ensuring a swift application and assessment process.

Benefits for colleges and training organisations

The Learning and Funding Information letter can also:

- support your management of learners' places, particularly when considering the capacity within the agreed loans facility
- place some distance between you and the learner's funding choice giving the learner time to consider their options

Learning and Funding Information Letter: How to Create

To enable learners to consider their options and equip them with the necessary information to make an application for a loan, if they decide to proceed, you must retain the format and order as set out in this guidance and the template letter.

You can download the template or use the template in Annex A. You can populate the template and send it to your learners. Alternatively, you may want to revise the letter to include specific information with regard to the course offer, alternative payment options and so on. However, you must not change any of the text or the order of the information in the tables as this is designed to be consistent with the data fields as they appear on the loans application form.
